Objective

Seeking the next challenge in my career where I can continue to develop as a teacher and where I can continue to see students learn Arabic and Islamic in fun and interesting ways. I have a passion for seeing students learn my mother tongue and religion and I am committed to helping children to achieve their full potential by fostering supporting learning environments. I am one of the founding teachers at my current school and I am very proud to have been part of the team that saw school growth from an initial 70 students to over 700 students today.
